

The Green Building Solutions Awards, showcasing sustainable construction

Madrid, 22nd June 2015

9th of July, this is the new deadline to take part in the Green Building Solutions Awards, an international competition run by the Construction21 network each year, which rewards professionals who have built exemplary buildings with solutions that contribute to the fight against climate change.

To apply to the competition, professionals directly publish their case studies on one of the Construction21 platforms. In December, will be announce the winners.

These Awards are a great opportunity for the participants, as case studies will be published by Construction21 in their website, where millions of professionals around the world will see them.

URSA Iberica, Construction 21's Silver Partner, supports this initiative.

URSA is aware of the importance of sustainability in the Construction Sector, and works to create the most efficient materials to build more sustainable buildings.
